SCOPE OF WORK	Move Delivery Ethical Clearance File Pack and Unpack

The relocation and clearance project for Morton Fraser MacRoberts required a highly coordinated approach to manage complex sequencing and tight timeframes. The programme involved moving IT equipment in week one, followed by a phased personal and filing move, and a full ethical clearance across weeks two and three.

Our team worked closely with MFMAC's internal leads to design a schedule that maintained business continuity while meeting all operational deadlines. Dedicated crews were assigned to each workstream, ensuring technical equipment, personal effects, and documentation were handled securely and efficiently. The clearance element was managed in alignment with our reuse and recycling commitments, with assets diverted from landfill wherever possible.

Throughout the process, we maintained detailed communication with the client's management team, providing clear progress updates and rapid issue resolution. The project concluded on time, with full evidence of ethical disposal and reuse outcomes.

The quality of delivery and strength of coordination demonstrated throughout the move reinforced client confidence, positioning us as a trusted partner for future operational and clearance requirements across their estate, undertaking the Glasgow requirement later in the same year.
